FILM SYNOPSIS:

In 1981, Chris Gardner was a struggling salesman in little needed medical bone density scanners while his wife toiled in double shifts to support the family including their young son, Christopher. In the face of this difficult life, Chris has the desperate inspiration to try for a stockbroker internship where one in twenty has a chance of a lucrative full time career. Even when his wife leaves him because of this choice, Chris clings to this dream with his son even when the odds become more daunting by the day. Together, father and son struggle through homelessness, jail time, tax seizure and the overall punishing despair in a quest that would make Gardner a respected millionaire.

In celebration of Lansdowne's rich diversity, Borough officials have signed on with the No Place for Hate Program. Sponsored by the Anti-Defamation League, this national program was designed as a community based campaign that empowers participants to challenge anti-Semitism, racism, hate, and bigotry in all forms. Lansdowne received its first official No Place for Hate designation in 2003.
