Bird Town Pennsylvania Renewed and Invigorated in Lansdowne Borough

Lansdowne Borough is pleased to announce its re-commitment to the goals of Bird Town Pennsylvania. By doing so we are joining more than 35 other municipalities in Pennsylvania to recognize new and invigorated leadership under the wing of the Pennsylvania Audubon Council.

Our municipality is dedicated to furthering our bird-friendly habitat initiatives as a part of our commitment to create a healthier, more sustainable environment for birds, wildlife and our citizens. The Bird Town Pennsylvania program provides tools for us to engage, educate and empower our residents, schools and businesses to make more ecologically friendly decisions and promotes a culture of conservation where everyone can be a steward of nature in their own backyard and beyond. As a symbol of our re-commitment new signs will appear on Lansdowne Borough streets. A fresh and bold logo has been created for the program and will help identify our community as one that aims for greater conservation and stewardship of natural resources.

We encourage you to visit the program's website (www.birddtownpa.org) to see how you can spread the word in your community.
